

PACKET SERVICE FROM PADUCAH TO OHIO FALLS CITY

First Step in Amalgamation of Two Evansville Steamboat Lines.

Would Mean Boat to Louisville Every Day.

PROBABILITY IS INCREASING.

Regarding the proposed merger of the Evansville & Paducah Packet company and the Evansville & Louisville Packet company the Evansville Journal-News is optimistic. If the consolidation is made it will mean a packet leaving Paducah every day for Louisville. The Journal-News says:

"Plans for the merger of the Louisville and Evansville Packet company with the Evansville, Paducah and Cairo Packet company were practically completed Wednesday afternoon when the big sale was made whereby the steamers John S. Hopkins and Joe Fowler became the property of Captain George Ragan, of Henderson, Arch Hollerbach and Captain J. B. Thompson of this city. "Mr. Hollerbach, it is understood is backing the financial end of the consolidation and negotiations have already been commenced for the purchase of the steamers Tell City, Tarascon and other vessels owned by the L. and E. company, together with the various wharves along the river between Evansville and Louisville.

At present the new purchasers of the Evansville, Paducah and Cairo Packet company, are merely joint owners, but as soon as the Louisville Packet company has been taken over a stock company will be formed. Captain Ragan holds one half of the stock of the Hopkins and Fowler and Captain Thompson and Mr. Hollerbach have each a one-fourth interest. It is said that the two latter will balance the division of stock by holding the majority of stock of the Louisville and Evansville Packet company.

"It was semi-officially admitted on Thursday morning that Messrs. Hollerbach, Thompson and Ragan would endeavor to get hold of the boats and equipment of the defunct Louisville company when the property is put up for sale about April 1.

Will Have Big Capital.

"It is known definitely that the two Evansville men and Ragan of Henderson will not undertake to swing the deal and operate the half dozen or more boats without ample capital. It is stated that this has been arranged for and with the arrival of the day for the sale either Captain Ragan, Thompson or Mr. Hollerbach, perhaps all three, will go to Louisville to bid in the property. Until such a time as their plans culminate the stock company necessitated by Wednesday's purchase will not be officially organized.

It is planned to put one of the boats now owned by the Louisville and Evansville Packet company and operated in the upper river trade, in the daily trade between Evansville and Henderson.

Will Have Competition.

"It became known Wednesday afternoon that Rounds Brothers, of Owensboro, Ky., the owners of the Rockport daily packet service, and big gasoline boat builders, intend to put two or three fast and well equipped gasoline boats in the Evansville and Henderson daily trade. The brothers have been making inquiries for some time. They have realized good results from the Rockport and Owensboro trade and regard the Evansville and Henderson field as affording better opportunities. Their plans to enter the field are said to have materialized when the steamer Jewell burned in Green river several weeks ago.

The River Center.

With headquarters of the newly proposed Louisville and Paducah Packet company established here and four boats meeting at this point together with the entrance of Rounds brothers, Evansville will become the steamboat center of the Ohio river trade below Cincinnati, taking the honor from Louisville. All the funds of the companies will be handled here, it is said, and the superintendent of the service and subordinate employees will be located in the city.

"It is estimated that the new owners of the E. and P. Packet company have under consideration even greater plans than have been announced to their confidential friends."

Railroads Appeal to Government For Mediation Under Erdman Act to Settle The Strike of Firemen

Forty-Nine Railroads With 140,000 Miles of Track and 27,000 Men Are Involved in Tie Up of Western Lines.

Firemen and engineers of the railroads entering Paducah may not be called out on a strike with the other men over the western roads. L. W. Shepherd, president of the Paducah lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers said no official message has been received from the grand lodge, and until it is the Paducah members will continue work. Should the order to strike be received here it would not go into effect until tomorrow as the railroads are given 24 hours' notice. The railroads are doing a heavy freight business in and out of Paducah now, and a strike would be felt seriously.

Chicago, March 15.—The date of the beginning of the general strike of 27,000 firemen and engineers on 49 western roads, will be announced by the committee today. It involves the following, 140,000 miles of track; a monthly pay of $160,000,000 for employees, firemen, wipers and yard men. President Carter, of the railroad brotherhood, said: "The men have decided to stand pat. I know nothing about the government being asked to interfere."

After a conference, the trainmen said they will give until 2 o'clock for the railroads to make radical concessions. If this is not done immediate arrangements for a strike will be made. President Carter said a telegram to this effect was sent to Chairman Knapp and Labor Commissioner Neill at Washington. Carter said the trainmen would not accept the plan of Neill and Knapp to act as mediators. They regard it as merely a plan to prolong the strike.

It is hardly likely that conductors, engineers and the trainmen's organizations will join the strike now. Advice from the west and Pacific coast say the railroad managers are not prepared for a strike. They predict as great a tie-up as in 1894, unless the general managers' committee make radical concessions before 2 p. m. The committee adjourned prepared for an immediate strike. This announcement following a secret conference.

Railroads Appeal.

Washington, March 15.—Western railroads threatened with a strike of firemen today appealed by wire for Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate Commerce commission, and Commissioner of Labor Neill for mediation under the Erdman act.

The request signed by the general manager's committee on behalf of the roads affected for government mediators, was wired to representatives of the firemen, asking their acquiescence in mediation. A reply is expected this afternoon.

West Kentucky Will Have Stock Farm

Murray, Ky., March 15. (Special.)—Perhaps the first public demonstration ever given in honor of a horse in western Kentucky will be that which greets a scion of the world famous Dan Patch when he arrives here today or tomorrow "in his own palace car" from Minneapolis, Minn.

This aristocratic equine is become a feature at the fine stock farm that is being established just west of Murray by Dr. Will Mason and Everett B. Irwin, which promises to rival Elmendorf farm near Lexington. The animal was purchased at the International farm, Minneapolis, at a cost of $5,000 and will reach here in a palace stock car in charge of an attendant. For two days admirers of fine horses have been watching for a telegram announcing that the horse had been transferred to the N. C. & St. L. railroad at Paducah and they have engaged the Brassfield Military band to head a procession that will escort the animal to its new home.

Besides the Patch horse the promoters of the farm have visited the famous stock farms of Kentucky, Tennessee and the east and have gotten together a half dozen of the finest bred horses in the world. One

NEARLY A CENTURY.
Murray, Ky., March 15. (Special.)—Had Mrs. Amelia Dick lived a few days longer she would have reached the century mark of life. She died yesterday of general debility and complications incident to old age. She was the mother of D. W. Dick, a prominent mill man.

AFTER A YEAR IN AFRICAN JUNGLES

COLONEL ROOSEVELT AND HIS FAMILY REUNITED AT KHARTOUM.

Khartoum, March 15.—Colonel Roosevelt, Kermit, Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel motored about the city today and visited Gordon college. Roosevelt was attired in a fresh suit, his son remarking that he looked like a gentleman for the first time in months. The family is extremely happy in the reunion. Colonel Roosevelt said he did not know which was the harder, struggling through the jungle or answering the demands made by the return to civilization. His mail is piled high. He is not trying to answer at present. "Many letters ask for presents, trophies of the hunt. There will be a small gathering at the palace this evening. The Roosevelts occupy the choicest suite at the palace. It is luxuriously furnished. The colonel plans to leave here Thursday, going to Assouan.

SAYLER MURDER JURY IS SOUGHT

WOMAN, ACCUSED OF KILLING
HER HUSBAND, IS HOOTED
BY MOB.

Watseka, Ill., March 15.—The examination of veniremen for the trial of Mrs. Lucy Saylor, Dr. Wm. A. Miller and John Gruenden, charged with the murder of Banker J. B. Saylor, started this morning. Crowds thronged the court room and hooted and hissed the accused as they went from the jail to the court house. Mrs. Miller, wife of the accused doctor, sat with Mrs. Saylor and chatted. At the first mention that the jury will be expected to hang her, Mrs. Saylor swooned, but quickly recovered and said she is confident of acquittal. Sensational allegations are made on both sides.

West Kentucky Will Have Stock Farm

of these is a horse sired by John R. Gentry, holder of the world's trotting record.

Besides the fine horse flesh the proprietors of the farm have an unique array of fancy fowls, including prize-taking chickens, imported pheasants and on the lawn in front of the barn, which cost several thousand dollars, is a herd of deer.

The farm has an ideal location, the barn being on an elevation overlooking the town of Murray. An expert is treating the soil for bluegrass and the proprietors say that if unsuccessful in getting that grass to grow in that way, they will sod the entire place.

School of Reform Repaired.

Officials have received word that the School of Reform at Lexington will be ready to receive children after April 1. One of the dormitories was destroyed by fire several months ago, and since then only a few children could be accommodated. The new building is about completed, and the school will be ready for all truants necessary to send to the state reform school.

Commercial Club

The Commercial club and the Retail Merchants' association will hold a joint meeting at the Palmer House Thursday night, to consider business of great importance which will be laid before the two associations.

BURGLAR POKES FIRE AND TAKES ROCKING CHAIR

While He Calmly Rummages
Through Trunk of Sleeping Young Woman.

Ungallantly Flings Box Lid
at Her.

HE MAKES A GRACEFUL EXIT.

Raffles would have taken off his hat to a young Arsene Lupin, whose cunning in the wee hours of this morning cost Miss Margaret Park, head trimmer at Ogilvie's millinery department, the loss of about $10 in money.

Miss Park awoke suddenly this morning at 1 o'clock in her room at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Deboe, Seventh and Jefferson streets, to find the grate fire burning furiously. Looking about her room she saw seated in a rocking chair a young man, finely dressed and handsome. The lid of her trunk was open and with audacious dexterity the gentleman burglar was calmly examining the contents. Almost hysterical, Miss Park arose in her bed and screamed. Without uttering a word young Lupin threw the lid of a pasteboard box, containing letters, at Miss Park and glided through the rear door, entirely vanishing. Efforts to find him later were futile.

Several articles of jewelry lying on the dresser in the room were untouched, while the thief left three cents and a postage stamp in the purse which he had looted.

An examination of the room later showed that the burglar had unlocked the door, leading into the hall, by using plecters to turn the key from the inside. Doing this, he extracted the key and inserted it on the outside of the door, perhaps with the intention of locking the door when he departed.

Entering the room he found Miss Park's purse, which was lying on the floor near the fireplace. It contained a $5 bill and the rest in silver dollars and small change. If he saw the handsome jewelry on the dresser, he was only after money and opened the trunk. He was fumbling through a box of letters when Miss Park screamed. The box lid aimed for her missed its mark and alighted on the pillow.

To a reporter for The Evening Sun Miss Park described the intruder as being a young man, possibly 25 years old. He was handsomely dressed and wore a dark suit and a derby hat. Not for a moment did he allow Miss Park to see his features. The police were notified, but patrolmen who scoured the neighborhood for some time afterwards failed to find the man. Miss Park was calm today over the affair. Her home is in St. Louis and she is now here for the spring millinery season. She is well known in Paducah.

Another Case Reported.

The home of Mrs. Ophelia Ingram, 317 North Seventh street, was visited by a burglar last night but he failed to effect an entrance. An alarm was turned in, but he could not be found. The police are of the opinion this was the same man, who entered the Deboe residence.

Intruder Is Routed.

Mrs. W. W. Nelson, wife of a prominent farmer living one mile northwest of Bandana, Ky., successfully routed a bold burglar about 7:40 o'clock last night on the farm when he emptied both barrels of a shotgun at him, while he was carrying out his threats to break open the front door.

Mr. Nelson left home last night about 7 o'clock to attend a lodge meeting at Bandana, and about forty minutes later Mrs. Nelson was startled by a sharp knock at the front door.

"Who is that?" she questioned. "I want to come in," said a deep gruff voice and Mrs. Nelson's repeated questioning, as to who he was resulted in the same answer.

Finally Mrs. Nelson, who was alone except for her two small children, decided to bluff the negro and said she would shoot if he did not leave. "Yes, and I'll break down the door," said the negro and he began throwing his weight against it. Mrs. Nelson ran into the adjoining room after the shotgun and emptied it through the front door. The negro fled untouched.

Mr. Nelson returned home about 8:30 o'clock and heard the story. At 9 o'clock Night Captain John J. Doonan at police headquarters received a telephone message from Mr. Nelson, asking for bloodhounds. He was told there are none in Paducah and would have to call elsewhere.

Charter Amendment is Passed by House and City Solicitor Goes to Frankfort to Aid Its Enrollment

Last Day's Session of Legislature Sees Paducah Bill Finally Enacted—Many Measures Being Rushed.

Alderman Ernest Lackey, who has been instrumental in securing the charter amendment, providing for 10-year special assessment bonds for street and sewer work, received telegrams today, saying that the bills have passed the house, and now need only to be enrolled and sent to the governor. City Solicitor Campbell will attend to this. He joined License Inspector Hicks at Frankfort today.

This is the third trip to Frankfort for Mr. Campbell. He and Mayor Smith were there before, and he also joined Alderman Ernest Lackey, who spent ten days at the capital on the same mission. Besides this, numbers of telegrams and long distance messages have been employed, and representatives of the other three Second class cities have bent their energies to the accomplishment of the same purpose. All this effort was exerted on the passage of a measure of public benefit, which all the communities affected desire, and which is opposed by nothing but legislative inertia.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Frankfort, Ky., March 15. (Special.)—The senate refused to take up for passage the resolution, indorsing the amendment to the federal constitution providing for an income tax. This kills the resolution this session.

The house passed the senate bill, prohibiting sweating or "third degree" by the police.

The senate passed house bills as follows: Fixing qualifications of mine foremen; providing white trustees for white schools and negro trustees for negro schools; enabling pharmacists of other states to practice in Kentucky as well as allowing the Kentucky board of pharmacy to exchange certificates with other states.

The senate bill, amending the charters of cities of the second class with reference to levying and collecting taxes and providing for submitting to a vote if any additional indebtedness is desired, passed the house.

Electrocution Bill Passes.

Senate bill 41 (Newcomb), to provide electrocution as the means of inflicting the death penalty, passed by 63 to 3.

Senate bill 18 (Combs), increasing the salary of the stenographer to the governor to $1,500, passed by 57 to 4.

Senate bill 279 (E. M. Taylor), providing for an amendment of the law requiring railroads to have locomotive whistles sounded at crossings, and fixing penalties for violation. Several amendments were offered.

Many Catholics May Go

Probably a representation of members of Catholics will attend the enthronement and reception of Bishop O'Donoghue at the Catholic cathedral in Louisville, March 29. The original date was March 30, but the occasion has been advanced one day. The Rev. Father H. A. Connolly, pastor of the St. Francis de Sales church will attend unless prevented by his duties. It will be an important event to all of the Catholics over the state, and no doubt Paducah will be well represented at the enthronement.

ANOTHER CANNON UNDER ARREST IN NICARAGUA

Corinto, Nicaragua, March 15.—Charged with conspiracy against the life of President Madrid, George Cannon, 25 years old, cousin of Leroy Cannon, the American executed by Zelaya, is held in the penitentiary here. He was arrested and his identity became known this morning. He was formerly secretary to General Chamorro. It is said Chamorro caused him to believe Madrid was responsible for Leroy's death. The commander of the American fleet, Admiral Kimball, approved of Cannon's arrest. Cannon served the various Central American governments under assumed names.

CORPORATION TAX BRIEF IS FILED BY THE GOVERNMENT

Says it is Not Direct Tax But Excise Duty on Business and Valid.

The Standard Oil Company is Making Last Plea.

ATTORNEY TELLS GOOD WORKS

Washington, March 15.—The brief of the government in the incorporation tax cases was filed in the supreme court today by Solicitor General Bowers. It says the tax is not direct on property, real or personal, of the corporations. It says the tax is an excise on "carrying on business" of companies and corporations and therefore needs apportionment of states, according to population. The brief is filed in response to appeals of 15 different insurance companies, public service corporations, real estate and miscellaneous concerns, who complain of the imposition of the tax. Bowers says the tax is not on shareholders, nor upon the income of shares. He makes the point that the excise is uniform in accordance with the constitution and no company is overburdened. He contends if the court finds any part of the law unconstitutional, it should nevertheless be sustained as to all other parts. It is expected the arguments of the case will begin at the close of the standard hearing.

STANDARD OIL CASE.

The final fight for the dissolution of the Standard Oil began before the supreme court of the United States, when John G. Milburn, of New York, spoke for three hours in its defense.

The greater part of Mr. Milburn's address to the court consisted of a review of the growth of the Standard Oil, with the object of laying the foundation for the claim that the corporations entering into the reorganization of the Standard Oil company

LETTERS FROM SENATOR COLLUM AND PRESIDENT.

Springfield, Ill., March 15.—The Republican Editors' association at a meeting today read a letter from President Taft expressing the hope that the editors stand by the administration and Senator Collum's letter, praising the administration's action on the tariff in all phases. It said the safety of the party is threatened, caused by attacks from the ranks. It praised Cannon.

Tobacco Sales

At Bohmer's loose leaf tobacco warehouse today 12,000 pounds of tobacco were offered and sold. There were no rejections. The high price was $10.10 and the low $5.25, making an average price of $8.92.

RIVER PIRATES CONFESS GUILT

IT IS THOUGHT THEY MAY HAVE OPERATED AROUND
PADUCAH.

Confessions have been gained from Frank Lance and Jack Slagle by the Cairo police and the pair "owned up" that they had been operating for years as river pirates between Evansville and Memphis, preying upon the smaller river towns, boats and barges along the banks. They made a specialty of robbing railroad cars, taking journal brasses when merchandise was not available. They traveled in skiffs or motor boats, stolen on upriver trips. Although these have been no accusations it has been hinted that Slagle and Lance were the ones who robbed the Illinois Central railroad transfer boat DeKoven, at Paducah, of a large quantity of brass several months ago. It is also likely that they were here at that time as only a few days ago they were picked up by the Memphis police with a stolen skiff laden with plunder. Slagle has been taken back to New Madrid, Mo., to face a charge of jail breaking. Lance is serving out a sentence at Cairo for carrying a concealed weapon.

MAKE ELECTIVE HOUSE OF LORDS

ROSEBURY FIRES OPENING GUN
IN ENGLISH PARLIAMENT.

Associations, Corporations and County Councils Advocated to Select Members.

REFORM BODY FROM WITHIN.

London, March 15.—The house of lords entered upon a discussion of the self-defending ordinance proposed by Lord Rosebery, preparatory to the radical reform of the upper chamber. The crowd present indicated the general interest in the subject.
Not a seat in the chamber was vacant when Lord Rosebery rose to move that the house resolve itself into a committee of the whole to consider the best means of reforming the existing organization, so as to constitute itself a strong and efficient second chamber.

At the same time he presented a set resolution to the effect that there was necessity for a strong and efficient second chamber for the well-being of the state; that such a chamber would be best obtained by the reform and reconstitution of the house of lords, and that a necessary preliminary to such reform and reconstitution was the acceptance of the principle that the possession of a peerage in itself should no longer afford the right to sit and vote in the house of lords.

Reform From Within.
Lord Rosebery declared that the time had come for a reform from within, without waiting for the government to carry out its proposals to hamstring the peers and so emasculate the house of lords that it would become no better than a painted chamber in which no self-respecting person would care to sit. He said it was wished to establish the elective principle, but it must not be through popular elections, but by elections by associations, corporations and county councils.

Lord Rosebery poured scorn upon the suggestion of a single chamber, which he declared was a proposal to dig the grave of the empire. In America, he said, the veto of the senate was stronger than was ever the veto of a sovereign.

ing the flames today when he accepted a position with the Paducah Light

the service of the fire department January 1, having served the city before as lineman at the city light fire department, but the old longing for stringing wires was too strong,

and he quit the fire department.
York made a good fireman and was popular with the men of the depart-

The Evening Sun's Daily Markets.

Hopkinsville Tobacco.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 15.—Last week was another notable one on the local tobacco market. Hardly had the excitement, caused by the sudden advance of $1.50 from $13.75 to $15.25 per hundred pounds of the week before, begun to subside when on Wednesday of last week it was revived by the top price of $15.50 being reached. And this, too, for loose tobacco. On all four loose floors the report was the same, big demand, heavy offerings and high prices.

Almost as much commented on as was the high prices were the heavy offerings of loose tobacco. Wagons continue to come from every direction and the sales for last week aggregated about 350,000 pounds, on which prices ranged from $5 to $8 for lugs and from $7.50 to $15.50 for leaf.

Hoghead tobacco is showing more signs of activity. Prices ranged $6 to $9 for lugs and $8 to $16.50 for leaf.

Louisville Live Stock.

Louisville, Ky., March 15.—All records were broken in the local livestock market this morning when the eleven-dollars-a-hundred mark was reached for hogs. Never before in the history of Louisville has such a price been charged for the tops or best grades. Even the lights were sold at $10.50, while pigs brought from $8.70 to $10, and the roughs were sold from $10.30 down.

J. C. Abel, a leading shipper of Nelson county, sold a carload of steers at the Bourbon stockyards today at the highest price that has been paid in years.

There were nineteen in the lot, averaging 1,229 pounds, and they brought 7 1/2 cents a pound. The animals had been corn fed by W. L.
Troutman & Son, of Cox Creek.

The receipts of hogs today were 2,018 as against 4,355 a year ago and 4,751 two years ago. There was a good active demand and prices jumped 20@30c, making new high records all along the line; selected 165 lbs. and up sold at $11, 130 lbs.
to $10.50; pigs ranged from $8.70 to $10; roughs $10.30 down. All sold and market closed firm.

PENNANT RACE

REACHING STRETCH IN BASKET-BALL LEAGUE.

D. A. D.'s and Elks and C. C. & W.
and L. & P. Teams Tonight.

Tonight's games will have importance bearing upon the pennant race in the city basketball league and will do considerable in determining the winner. The game of interest will be between the D. A. D. and Elks and if the fraternity lads are defeated they will be eliminated from the race.
The Elks are not pennant possibilities now, but by winning tonight's contest the team can rest higher in the percentage column and destroy the hope of the first team.

The second game will be between the C. C. & W. and the Light and Power teams. If the Chess team wins the lead on first place will be increased although not clinched, as to lose the two remaining games would result in the loss of the silver trophy.
Friday night the Chess team will have the D. A. D.'s for opponents.
The closing game of the season next Tuesday will be played against the High school team, both contenders for the rag.

When the season closes next Tuesday night each team will have played eleven games. Twelve games would have been played, but the Knights of Columbus withdrew from the league.

The remaining games are: Friday night—High School vs. L. & P.; D.
A. D. vs. C. C. & W. Tuesday night
—L. & P. vs. Indians; High School vs. C. C. & W.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have been using for over a century. It is mild, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste —you will not have to force them to take it.

First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it at your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. E. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it in that way and now write that it is their family necessity next to food itself.
If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.
To give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail.
For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 1800 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

News of Theatres

"As Told in the Hills" will come to The Kentucky for one night on March 18. The principal character is that of "Pamnesia," daughter of an Indian chief, who was adopted by an emigrant and his wife and reared as their own child. The character is regarded as one of the strongest and most interesting that has been created in any modern melodrama, showing as it does the influences of education and refinement of a typical "child of nature," who has inherited all of the strong characteristics of her Indian father and mother.

March 19, for a matinee and night will be seen one of the best western dramas playing at popular prices.
Miss Daisy Hazelton, who is starring in the part of "Scissors," is a creation of a western girl. Supporting Miss Hazelton is a company of sterling actors and a complete production.
High class vaudeville specialties between the acts are a feature.

Daily Thought.
Every noble life leaves the fiber of it interwoven forever in the works of the world.—Ruskin.

The report of Morgan's death was false; but somebody made a killing on the strength of it.

Some of these days an eminent American specialist will operate on J. P. Morgan for the removal of an octopus.

If John D. is aiming at a monopoly of charity he will have little difficulty in discouraging competition, and few complaints from patrons.

A bill is pending in the house, providing for the testing of hog cholera serum and seeds for farm use. This is more folly of "them perferers" and "Gene Graves ought to expose it."

"Suppose we impose the fine for spitting in public places and use the money to repair the macadam street," says the Owensboro Inquirer. We, too, have an ordinance, but we consider ourselves lucky in Paducah if we can walk the length of Broadway without being spit upon.

Will the milliners show the new "Conservation" hat at the openings? It is made of alfalfa braid, simply trimmed with a band of Ballinger white, and having a pompon of Guggenheim moss gathered on the north side and overshot, or Pinchot, with a catarract of watered silk. The latest pins have jet heads cut in imitation of lumps of coal. The hat is peaked and surmounted by a Teddy bear.

A STUDENT AT 45.

Here is how one man solved the problem of occupying his time after he had made his pile. Daniel Waldo Fields, millionaire of Brockton, Mass. 45 years old, is enrolled as a student at Harvard. He is not a resident student, but is numbered among the hardest workers in the university.

Newspaper men are acquainted with a large circle of people, who get along famously while mother necessity keeps their noses to the grindstone, but who know nothing else, and are subjected to the simplest temptations, once they are relieved from the grinding toll. That is why it is so often heard that one's happiest days were spent in the accumulation of riches or in the humble home of poverty. Every step in life is beset by a different form of appeal to the weakness of the flesh. To one poverty offers the apparently easy avenue of crime; to another the acquisitive instinct suggests dishonesty. Some pass through poverty and affluence and attain success before they are tempted beyond their power of resistance. There are hundreds of things, which a man freed from the worry of mere striving for a competence, can do that will win for himself peace of mind and for others happiness; but exclusive devotion to money making usually crowds out all thoughts of this kind, and frequently men fall into follies that shock those who thought they knew them best, through sheer lack of direction for their energies.

Daniel Waldo Fields is determined at 45 to complete the education he was compelled by poverty at 15 to discontinue. The intervening 30 years constituted but a break in his course. When he finishes at Harvard Daniel Waldo Fields will be equipped with knowledge and directions for enterprise, that the 30 years grind crowded out, and also equipped with habits of caution and industry that the 30 years grind fastened on him. The world should be better for that Daniel Waldo Fields will be equipped is spared to use his new found knowledge.

OUR DELIGHTFUL PRISONS.

We are glad the modesty of our state prison commissioners forbade their permitting the introduction of Senator Taylor's report until his fulsome praise of the institution had been modified. As it stands, we fear the wholesomeness of the food, the lightness of the work, the congeniality of the society, the attentiveness of the guards and the courteous conduct of the commissioners toward those in their care, as set forth in the report, will precipitate a reign of crime in Kentucky. The prospectus of a summer resort couldn't paint the situation more admirably. State Inspector Thatcher, who found that prisoners had been brutally beaten at Frankfort, even going so far as to pretend to count the number of stripes administered; who said that campaign funds were raised from the employees for the purpose of controlling Democratic nominations to the state legislature for the benefit of the commissioners, elected by the legislature; who said the state was losing money and the contractors making it, and that a contracting firm had at one time paid an employee extra money, must feel ashamed of himself, when he reads the chaste language of Senator Taylor, setting forth the hygienic and social advantages of life at the state's prison, and the motherly care on the part of the whole administration for the comfort and health of the inmates. No wonder Senator Taylor is so anxious to secure a position in the prison. He has seen what a fine institution it is and he has fallen in love with it. We are surprised at his temerity though. We should hesitate to make so searching an investigation as he did, lest, failing to secure a position under the administration of the Frankfort penitentiary, we might be constrained to go out and rob a hen-roost or hold up a train in order to be sent there.

STATE PRESS.

Paducah is having some bank mergers. Good thing. It is possible for cities to have too many banks. Six banks can handle the business of 20 and at much less expense.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Cost of Pensions.
There seems to be some awakening at Frankfort as to the practically limitless cost of attempting to pension the Confederate veterans and their widows. There is a difference between passing a pension bill on a sentiment and a song and raising the money to carry out the provisions of the bill.—Courier-Journal.

Some Stories Around the Town.

That hole at Fourth street and Broadway in which the foundation of the new ten-story office building will be planted has certainly attracted much attention. Pass the spot at any time of the day and an interesting crowd may be seen standing on the sidewalk watching the workers load the wagons with dirt. Business men, who say they are in a rush, will pause a few minutes to gaze at the site of Paducah's first skyscraper. It is estimated that several thousand people pause by the site every day, and comment upon the work. "Yes," said Contractor Weikel, who has charge of the excavations, "Guess we could get this dirt out in a hurry if everybody that stopped here would grab a shovel and work as long as he stands and watches the other fellows work."

In Paducah there is a copy of the Ulster County (N. Y.) Gazette, published Saturday, January 4, 1890, and containing an account of the death of George Washington. The paper is owned by Mr. Finis Dunn, 425 South Sixth street, and is valued highly by him because of the small number of copies of the paper in existence. He received the paper from his father, who resided in Paducah before the Civil war, and had the old newspaper in his possession for many years. Although yellow with age the print is read easily. It is a characteristic newspaper of its day, and its write-ups are quaint. It was printed on a hand press, and consists of four pages, each page containing four columns.

The first page is devoted to the news from congress and clippings from London papers several months old. The two inside pages are ruled heavily in mourning for the death of Washington with the account of his death. No doubt the paper is the only one of its kind in Paducah and possibly in the state, as the circulation of even a New York newspaper did not reach into the thousands 110 years ago.

"You're right," said a little "Hello girl" the other day. "We telephone operators certainly will be glad when the city clock is installed in the city hall tower, and goes to ticking off the seconds again. Since that clock has been removed the calls from subscribers, asking what time it is, have increased many fold." Many people depend upon the clock for the time to regulate their clocks, and for the past few months, since it has been out of operation, they have been calling up the central girls to inquire the hour.

Lettergrams at the Paducah telegraph offices have taken and night operators for the past week, since the innovation began, have found life anything but an idle dream. The night letters are being sent by business men, and especially traveling salesmen, expediting the delivery of goods. Lettergrams consist of fifty-word messages to be transmitted over the wires at night at the price charged for ten words during the day. The service planned was to transmit these letters, delivering them the following morning during business hours at greatly reduced rates. A feature of the new business is the sending of market reports by wire, which hitherto have been sent by letter. Orders from traveling men are also growing in amount. The new feature of the telegraph business will no doubt reap a big success.

PASTORS DECIDE ON BIG MEETING

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO PREPARE PLANS.

Union Rescue Mission Wants Home of Its Own Bought by Churches.

Y. M. C. A. TALKS ON PROGRAM.

A report, endorsing the proposed plan to have a simultaneous evangelistic revival among all of the Protestant churches in Paducah, was made to the Protestant Pastors' association this morning by the special committee appointed last month to investigate the plan. So favorably has the movement progressed that an other committee, composed of representatives of all denominations, was appointed to plan for the big meeting. The committee is composed of Revs. G. T. Sullivan, H. W. Burwell, E. B. Landis, W. A. Fite, William Bourquin, D. C. Wright and M. E. Dodd. The plan was proposed at the February meeting and it is believed it will materialize in a few weeks. The association met at 10 o'clock this morning at the Broadway Methodist church and in the absence of Rev. W. B. Bourquin, the Rev. M. E. Dodd acted as secretary. A lecture reviewing John R. Mott's book on the subject of missions or leadership in the church, was given by the Rev. G. W. Banks, pastor of the Fountain Avenue Methodist church.

Union Rescue Mission.

The matter of investigating the feasibility of all the churches uniting in purchasing a home for the Union Rescue mission was referred to a committee composed of Drs. H. W. Burwell, G. W. Banks and M. E. Dodd. The Rev. R. W. Chiles, pastor of the Rescue Mission, asked the association for aid as that church owns no property. The committee will report at the next meeting.

Y. M. C. A. Movement.
Espacial emphasis will be directed to the next monthly meeting to be held April 5 when the question of "A Y. M. C. A. for Paducah" will be discussed by Dr. M. E. Dodd, of the First Baptist church, and others.

The association will solicit the full attendance at that meeting of all the pastors in the city and also the members of the official boards of each church.

The monthly reports filed by the different pastors this morning were very gratifying.

CORPORATION TAX

of New Jersey in 1899 were noncompetitive, because for many years they had been under a so-called common ownership.

He told of the tremendous size of the business of the Standard Oil company and explained how it had grown according to his conception. He said large factors in the growth were the building of pipe lines, "which anybody had a right to build," as he described it; the building of refineries, and the extending of the marketing facilities throughout this country and the entire world.

"We compete abroad with great corporations," he said, "that are protected and shielded by their governments and compelled to combine so that they may be powerful. We have been able to meet them because of our strength."

Toward the close of the day he entered upon a discussion of the Sherman anti-trust act. He said inasmuch as the circuit court had held that the mere method of organization was a conspiracy to monopolize and had not considered the alleged monopolistic conduct, he felt an embarrassment about discussing whether they violated the law.

"You discuss them in your brief, do you not?" queried one of the justices.

"Oh, yes," was the response. After a discussion of the general meaning of a monopoly, he reverted to the alleged monopolistic conduct of the Standard Oil company.

Denies Restraint of Trade.
Mr. Milburn said he did not believe the corporation was in restraint of trade, in view of the "common ownership"; it had never restrained the liberties or capital of any one who has entered to it, nor any one who was its competitor. He asserted instead of being a monopoly, it was suggested by Mr. Milburn that the amount of business it was doing was decreasing.

Justice Harlan asked Mr. Milburn if he would call an organization of men to buy all coal lands in Pennsylvania a conspiracy of trade and monopoly.

"The question you put is one difficult of solution," responded the counsel. He explained to the court that he was really getting "out of his line of business" in discussing monopolies.

"I think you are in your line," said Justice White.

"Well, the Sherman law is very interesting," observed Mr. Milburn. "Napoleon complained that the laws did not lend themselves to the imagination, but he had never read the Sherman anti-trust act."

Finally Mr. Milburn took up the charges of monopolistic conduct as alleged to have been shown by transportation discrimination. He declared the idea that railroads, through out the country would discriminate in favor of a business that afforded only half of 1 per cent of the total traffic was preposterous.

"No independent refiner since 1887," he added, "when the interstate commerce act was passed, has complained to the interstate commerce commission of discriminations."

No Unfair Competition.
He spoke of the alleged unfair competition. "Competition does not breed the virtues," he said. "It is the lower nature that comes uppermost in such conditions, you know. But are we to be held responsible for all the acts of our employees?"

Novel Oklahoma Houseparty.

The Daily Advertiser, of Ardmore, Oklahoma, notices socially an unique house party that has decided interest here:

"Miss Adah Bennett, the past week has entertained a 'sunset' house party—named so poetically because all the young ladies were red-headed. Miss Bennett's guests were Misses Leslie and Lavine Woods, of Oklahoma, and Virgie Greer, of Paducah, Kentucky. Her house party was particularly unique in having young ladies who confessed they were red-headed, instead of referring to their hair as auburn tresses. Possibly the recent popularity of red hair may have something to do with this, as well as their freedom from vanity. The name 'sunset' was suggested by Hon. Lee Cruise, who, being a candidate for governor, has complimentary expressions for everything from red-headed girls to six-month-old babies."

Miss Bennett is a daughter of the late Judge Caswell Bennett, chief justice of Kentucky for many years, who now makes her home with Hon. Lee Cruise. Miss Greer is spending the winter with her sisters in Oklahoma. She is a typical "Titian-haired" beauty.

Miss Scott is a sister of Miss Elizabeth Scott, of Clarkdale, who was an attractive visitor of the Misses Decker, of Paducah, several years ago.

SMITH WILL CASE

IS BEING COMPROMISED BY THE ATTORNEYS.

Special Judge Arrives to Try Case, but His Services Are Not a Required.

Negotiations are under way this afternoon between attorneys for a compromise of the suit of Joe Smith to break the will of his father, the late J. R. Smith. The terms of the compromise are said to have been agreed upon virtually, and the lawyers were drawing up the documents this afternoon.

It is understood that by the terms of the compromise Joe Smith's monthly allowance of $250 will be continued while he will receive a lump sum from the estate. By the terms of the will the property of J. R. Smith was left entailed to the grand children. Joe Smith was allowed $250 monthly by the will of his parents to be cut off if he tried to break the will. Mr. Smith was one of the wealthiest men of western Kentucky and his estate is valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

The suit was on the docket for this term of circuit court, and this morning Judge Malcomb Yeaman, of Henderson, who was appointed special judge to preside in the case, arrived for the trial, but as the compromise was reached he will not preside. Judge Yeaman was appointed special judge because Circuit Judge William H. Reed is an attorney for James P. Smith.

Attorneys Hendrick & Corbett, Robbins & Thomas, of Mayfield, and Listman & Edlen, of Frankfort, represented the plaintiff, while Judge William Reed and Judge D. G. Park were attorneys for the defendant.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

It is a generally recognized fact that medicines taken from the botanical kingdom are better adapted to the delicate human system, and safer in every way, than those composed of strong mineral mixtures.

In the early settlement of this land, our forefathers were obliged to procure their medicines from Nature's great laboratories of forest and field. They searched out and compounded the different vegetable materials into teas, concoctions and medicines. That these pioneers found the most potent and valuable of the roots, herbs and barks placed at their disposal, is abundantly proven by the fact that the great majority of them were blessed with rugged health. They cured their diseases and were enabled to do the great preliminary work of civilization because the remedies they used were Nature's remedies, and specially adapted to the needs of humanity.

Among the very best of these vegetable preparations is S. S. S., a medicine made entirely of roots, herbs and barks in such combination as to make it the greatest of all blood purifiers and the finest of all tonics. S. S. S. does not contain the least particle of mineral in any form, and is absolutely a safe medicine for any one to use.

While purifying the blood this great vegetable remedy builds up and strengthens every portion of the system. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, hereditary taints, and all other diseases and disorders caused by impure or polluted blood.

As a tonic S. S. S. is unequalled. It invigorates every portion of the system, and the healthy blood it creates largely assists in overcoming any derangement of the digestive system. If you are suffering from any blood trouble, or need a tonic to build up your constitution, you could not do better than to take S. S. S., a medicine that is in no degree harmful. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

LABOR SITUATION MOST MENACING

IN INDUSTRIAL WORLD, SAYS HENRY CLEWS.

Abatement of Apprehension Politically Observed By Writer on Market.

STOCK MARKET IS HEALTHY

New York, March 15. (Special.)—

The stock market continues to show a healthy undertone. Prices have undergone a further hardening tendency and the upward movement has received no serious check beyond that imposed by occasional profit taking.

Conditions affecting values are still of a generally favorable nature. The great railroad and industrial corporations of the country are all actively employed and enjoying reasonably good profits. Railroad earnings are increasing, both net and gross, and the advance in New York Central's dividend had a decidedly strengthening influence upon other leading railroad shares. Some of our principal industrial corporations are also reporting very flattering results, emphasizing the fact of general trade activity.

As the spring approaches this fact will become still more evident. Construction work deferred by inclement weather will be resumed, and agricultural operations will begin throughout the country, all of which means a better demand for labor and greater business activity.

Already the iron trade is feeling the effects of recent stimulants, and large orders have been placed for cars and other railroad material. The recent successful placing of railroad bonds will, of course, enable the railroads to push long-contemplated improvements, rendered imperative to meet requirements of rapidly growing traffic. These outlays will give employment to many thousands of artisans and mechanics.

Politics.

Among the factors which have tended to improvement is the steady abatement of disturbing political agitation at Washington. As to the expected supreme court decisions, nothing is known as to the date of their issue, but opinion is already inclined to discount their effect and to go on with business with as little regard to their outcome as seems prudent. The monetary situation remains satisfactory; loanable funds being plentiful at moderate rates to all good borrowers. The tendency, however, is for somewhat higher rates of interest as we approach the 1st of April settlements. Western banks have an unusual amount of loans outstanding, and the loan account of the New York banks is steadily increasing; while local reserves are now down to below $10,000,000. It would cause no surprise, therefore, if lenders should show more conservatism in making loans, and bankers are already discriminating in their purchases of commercial paper, only the highest grades finding a good demand. Of course, higher interest rates would tend to check the anticipated exports of gold;—so, too, will the larger foreign purchases of American securities which have recently been made. There has recently been a much better demand for bonds, Europe having taken a very considerable portion of the latest issues. This movement has been an important element in strengthening the stock market, and is one of the best symptoms current in the financial situation. The speculative temperament on the stock exchange is certainly showing more activity, as well as a healthy division of opinion. At times there has been a considerable outstanding short interest, which proved the basis of a sharp rise in certain stocks. Foreign exchange is weaker, but so much under speculative influences that the real situation is difficult to ascertain. Our exports of merchandise are still unduly small, owing to high prices and the persistence with which agricultural products are held at first hands. This latter feature was emphasized by the government statement of farm reserves of wheat, which shows that farmers are holding 30,000,000 bushels more than a year ago. These figures fully account for the shortage in exports of wheat, and raise the question as to what must be done with this surplus as the new crop draws near. All indications point to a big acreage during this coming spring, and much of the grain held back may have to be shipped later on at lower prices than now current. If so, this too would have an effect in restraining gold shipments. Wheat is not the only product held back by growers for high prices. Our farmers are possessed with the idea of holding on and are financially able to do so. The question is, will they carry this policy too far and bring on reaction when the new crops approach?

Labor.

The most threatening element of the market is the labor situation. Signs of unrest are spreading in many directions, leaving those who manage industrial concerns in a state of much uncertainty as to future plans. The great textile trades are already more or less embarrassed by the small margin of profit between raw materials and finished products. Consumers are seriously objecting to paying current high prices; hence retailers and jobbers are reluctant to stock up with merchandise markets in their present conditions. Even in the steel trade high prices did at one time check distribution, and in the majority of instances recent orders have been placed at slight concessions from prices prevailing a year ago. A similar policy would be wholesome in many other departments of industry. It is safe to say that the mercantile classes will pursue a very conservative course during the coming season, and in this they will be amply justified.

For the immediate future an irregular market is to be anticipated. But with the underlying conditions so sound and promising no serious reaction is to be expected. But after we get over the 1st of April settlements the speculative spirit is likely to rise, which will mean increased activity and higher prices.

BABY WASTED TO A MERE SKELETON

With Terrible Eruptions—Grew Worse in Spite of Doctors—Would Scratch and Tear Flesh Unless Hands were Tied—Mother Says

HE WOULD HAVE DIED BUT FOR CUTICURA

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores and eruptions on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad that I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk.

"My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. So great was her faith in them that she gave me a little of the Soap to try and a little of the Ointment. I took them home without any faith, but to please her I tried it and it seemed to dry up the sores a little. I sent to a drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed directions. At the end of two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only for the most wonderful Cuticura Remedies my precious child would have died from those terrible sores. I used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Ointment.

"I am a nurse and my profession brings me into many different families and it is always a pleasure for me to tell my story and recommend Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. 1, Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 23, 1909."

JERKY MARKET FOR LAST WEEK

WHEAT AND CORN BOTH SHOW SOME FLURRIES.

Damage to Crop in Kansas Is Verified—News From Abroad Was Bullish and Bearish.

HOGS STILL ON THE UP GRADE

Chicago, March 15.—It was a jerky market, full of surprises and unexpected turns that kept wheat traders always on the qui vive during the week just closed. There were some sudden and a few violent price changes, but at the end of the week the net changes were round to be inconsequential, a drop in the quotations for the later months in wheat being the feature. May wound up where it was seven days before.

The two main factors on which the developments of the week hinged were the new gist of crop damage reports from Kansas and the southwest and the government report on the amount of old wheat still in the farmers' hands. The agricultural department made the figures considerably lower than the trade generally anticipated they would be. There followed a brisk market, in which there was aggressive buying. A few days before, on the strength of almost exactly the same figures on reserves by a private expert, the trade saw fit to sell.

Volume of Trade Large.
The volume of trade during the week was large. Bartlett & Patten, who are so soon to retire from active part in the market, were the principal buyers. It is estimated that they took on 5,000,000 bushels in two days in the middle of the week, and that fully four-fifths of their purchases were for September delivery. The general public also came generally into this kind of buying. The result was a quick transfer of popular interest to the things that are to come after July 1 next. The options of the new crop year took on decided strength, but lost much of their attractiveness when the trade had a chance to get its breath and to analyze as best they could the reports of damage.

Damage to Crops in Kansas.

That there has been damage to the crop in Kansas of no mean proportion hardly admits of any doubt, but it should be borne in mind that if there were no such injury the Sunflower state would raise the biggest crop in its history—in other words, over 100,000,000 bushels. With the increased acreage over last year, the Kansas crop might be damaged many points and still leave a fine yield in the aggregate.

Those specially interested in the speculative end of wheat on the bull side are reading disaster into the situation in Kansas. The dealers in the actual grain, on the other hand, hold out a more hopeful aspect for the season of the wheat raiser. The secretary of the Kansas Grain Dealers' association makes what he believes is due allowance for damage and figured out on a basis of the acreage submitted that Kansas stands to produce 14,000,000 to 22,000,000 bushels, which is well up to the best results for that state.

Private estimators put the prospective Kansas yield at 60,000,000 to 75,000,000 bushels, according to the viewpoint. With the opening up of the spring season the true situation is becoming more apparent, and so far as winter damage is concerned that ought to be pretty accurately surveyed within another fortnight.

Good Deal Blind Plunging.

There seemed to be a good deal of blind plunging in the operations of the week, with speculators paying little attention to the statistical news.

ARITHMETIC AND FOOD.

School Children Must Be Fed Right.
A young girl in Ind. says no one has a better right to speak of Grape-Nuts food than she.

"I was in school, but in poor health until Mamma began to give me Grape-Nuts food. I began to improve at once, both mentally and physically, and I improved so in my work at school that I got 100 in arithmetic and during that time I gained 3 or 4 pounds in weight.
"There is no one has a right to recommend the food more highly than I. Mamma neglected to supply it for about three weeks, and I began to fall in health again, so I commenced to use the food over, and now I don't intend to do without Grape-Nuts on the table."
It is well for parents to know that Grape-Nuts food contains selected elements from the grains, prepared and cooked in such a way as to present these food elements so that they can be quickly digested and assimilated; the phosphate of potash obtained from the field grains, and contained in Grape-Nuts unites with the albumen of food to quickly rebuild the gray matter of the nerve centers and brain.
It is of the greatest importance that growing children and students be given food that sustains both brain and nerves.

PIMPLES DISAPPEAR.
New Healing Agent Makes Quick Work of Them.

The dispensers of posam, the new skin discovery, ask that notice be given that no one is urged to purchase it without first obtaining the sample package which will be sent free to any one who writes to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th street, New York. This alone is sufficient to clear the complexion and to rid the face of pimples. Every one who has tried posam knows that the fifty-cent box, on sale at Gilbert's and R. W. Walker & Co.'s, as well as all other drug stores, contains sufficient for the worst cases of eczema, where the surface affected is not too large. The itching ceases on first application. It will also cure acne, blotches, scaly scalp, hives, barber's itch and every other form of it, including itching feet. Being flesh-colored and containing no grease the presence of posam on exposed surfaces, such as the face and hands, is not perceptible. Water and soap cannot be used in connection with it, as these irritate and prolong skin troubles, sometimes even causing them.

as it came along. At the week's close crop damage stories had less influence than earlier in the week. It began to impress itself on the trade that while the reports were persistent, and in some cases of the calamity-howler order, they were being confined largely to the same territory.

Of the bear influences of the week the primary receipts from all points and the piling up wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth were the most important. The movement in the northwest ran very high save for one or two days. At the two big Minnesota centers stocks showed an increase for the week of 1,425,000 bushels. This compared with an increase at the same period last year of 538,000 bushels. The farmers of the northwest are preparing to get into the fields in a large way for the spring plowing, and many of the trade professed to forgo a much lighter movement of wheat to the front when the farm activities are on in earnest. The increases at Minneapolis and Duluth led to the expectation of a substantial expansion in the visible.

News From Abroad.

News from abroad was both bullish and bearish. The crop summary gave a generally more favorable outlook than the week before. The one exception was a report from Russia of considerable damage by frost. In the bullish budget of news was the London estimate that the Argentine exportable surplus would be 65,000,000 bushels for 1910, or 30,000,000 bushels less than was exported last year. Australian shipments fell off a half million bushels compared with last week, although the aggregate was 400,000 bushels more than a year ago at the same time. Export business is practically at a standstill.

Corn Prices Shifted.

Corn prices were veered back and forth by the influence upon them of wheat, but the week closed with no material net gain over the week before. May is selling in this market around 63 1/2c, July 65 1/4c and September 67 1/2c. An increased visible supply of $77,000 bushels had some depressing effect. A sharp decline in prices followed the announcement of the government figures on reserves on the farms. These were a little less than were looked for, despite the paradoxical action of the market.

Oats and Provisions.

Government farm reserves on oats were a bearish item, but it did not become immediately effective because of the flurry in wheat and corn. The farm holdings are 85,000,000 bushels more than for a year ago. The latest visible supply statement shows an increase of 400,000 bushels, compared with a decrease of a year ago. Primary receipts, however, are running consistently below those of last year. The market for the grain was ruled, most entirely by speculative influences. The shipping demands are fair.
Light arrivals of hogs, a still ascending scale of pork prices and raw material values have brought an enormous speculative and investment buying in provisions. All offerings are quickly absorbed and there is little haggling over prices. Prices are expected to go sky rocketing indefinitely.
Many strings to one's beau do not always tie the matrimonial knot.

ALTER BLEACHED FLOUR RULING

SAY ELECTRICAL PROCESS NOT PROHIBITED BY LAW.

Secretary Wilson and Taft Give Little Hope for Modification—Bleaching.

OPINIONS SEEM TO CONFLICT.

Washington, March 15.—President Taft today received a second visit from the committee sent to Washington last week by the various state millers' associations and the Millers' National Defense association, which was formed to defend the bleached flour prosecution of the government. Attorney-General Wickersham, Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe, of the agricultural department, were present at the interview. The millers' committee included Chauncey Abbott, of Nebraska, John W. Burke, of Ohio, E. R. McDonald, of Iowa, S. R. Larrabee, of Kansas, Samuel Plant and John E. Mitchell, of St. Louis, with Bruce S. Elliott as counsel.
The millers have asked the president to modify the ruling of the secretary of agriculture to the effect that all bleached flour is adulterated by excluding from the ruling flour bleached by electricity. It is claimed that by this latter process chemicals are not used in the flour.

Opinions Conflict.

There appeared to be this morning a decided conflict of opinion between the millers and the government officials as the result of prosecutions recently had in New Orleans and in Iowa.

Secretary Wilson declared that the New Orleans case was a test of the law and that the millers did not defend it. The millers, on the other hand, claimed that only the misbranding of a product was involved at New Orleans and that they did not wish to defend any such practice. They claimed that in the Iowa cases however, the electrical process of bleaching was involved and that the government had dismissed these cases on Saturday last. The millers asserted they were anxious to get some definite ruling, however, but in this they were unsuccessful so far as today's conference was concerned, and Secretary Wilson afterward expressed the opinion that they would be no modification of the bleached flour ruling.

JOIN ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION.

Work of Preparing Jackson Hill for Tent Colony Will Be Started at Once.

A successful meeting of the Anti-Tuberculosis league was held last night at the Woman's club building, with a representative attendance. Articles of incorporation for the league will be drafted in a few days, and the active work started. So far 50 citizens have become members of the league, and many more are expected to enroll soon.

It was decided that work should be started at once in preparation for the colony at Jackson's hill. It will be necessary to arrange walks, and clean off the spot. Letters will be written to other cities, asking what tents and equipment give the most satisfaction. It is also proposed to start a central heating plant so that it will not be necessary to maintain a separate fire in each tent when the weather makes a fire necessary.

An educational campaign will be started among the school children so that they may be aware of the dangers of tuberculosis and the simple precautions necessary to prevent its spread. Prospects are bright for a number of lodges and institutions to contribute tents. The Woman's club gave the first tent. Mr. Joseph L. Friedman contributed a second.

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "indorse" or guarantee any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well-known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all the requirements of the law.

SCHOOL MONEY

IS ACCOUNTED FOR BACK TO 1905 BY TREASURER.

Prepares and Submits Report to President Hills at Board's Request.

In his report to the school board, showing an itemized statement, covering the amounts collected by the city of Paducah on property tax, which includes all franchise elections, penalties and also back taxes during the last five years, City Treasurer George Walters shows that for that period only $764.38 is due the schools after different expenditures made by the city for the schools have been deducted.

One expenditure is the sewerage connections and plumbing work at the Lee school building, Fourth and Ohio streets, which was paid by the city, and amounted to $3,045.88. This was paid for last year.

Mr. Walters said this morning there are several items not charged to the schools, which the city had paid during the past and he did not look them up as they were minor accounts. The balance due the schools on 1909 taxes collected between January 1, 1910, and February 21, is $1,405.95. This is to be paid at the next disbursement of city funds.

Besides giving a full statement, Mr. Walters totals up, in his report, the amounts due at the end of each of the past five years, which makes a total of $3,959.01. Deducting the Lee school plumbing from this in addition to part of the school taxes refunded in that time, amounting to $148.75, it leaves a balance of $764.38. This will be turned over to the schools without taking into consideration the commission paid the back tax collector.

February 21 Treasurer Walters received a letter from President W. J. Hills, of the school board, embracing the resolutions adopted by the board of education, asking for this compiled statement. Mr. Walters finished the report yesterday. It is as follows:

STOMACH DEAD MAN STILL LIVES.

People who suffer from sour stomach, fermentation of food, distress after eating and indigestion, and seek relief in large chunks of artificial digestors, are killing their stomachs by inaction just as surely as the victim of morphine is deadening and injuring beyond repair every nerve in his body.

What the stomach of every sufferer from indigestion needs is a good prescription that will build up his stomach, put strength, energy and elasticity into it, and make it sturdy enough to digest a hearty meal without artificial aid.

The best prescription for indigestion ever written is sold by druggists everywhere and by Gilbert's drug store, and is rigidly guaranteed to build up the stomach and cure indigestion, or money back.

This prescription is named Mi-o-na, and is sold in small tablet form in large boxes, for only 50 cents. Remember the name, Mi-o-na stomach tablets. They never fail.

Both the Margaret and Russell Lord reached port from White river at 6 o'clock yesterday evening and this morning the Margaret received stores and fuel for a trip to the Cumberland to load ties.

From Clarksville the J. B. Richardson is due here tonight or early tomorrow. She leaves at noon tomorrow for Nashville.

The City of Salt Lake left St. Louis at 5 o'clock yesterday evening and is due here tomorrow afternoon or night en route to the Tennessee river and way landings.

Yesterday Capt. Awaft towed a log raft containing 85,000 feet of poplar lumber from the Tennessee river and delivered it to the Roberts box factory at Metropolis. This morning he went to the Cumberland after two rafts for the Marshal Lumber company at Metropolis.

The new owners of the John S. Hopkins and Joe Fowler intend to start both boats in the Paducah and Evansville trade March 28. They are now being overhauled at Evansville.

Rivermen dread the March winds as it is difficult to make landings and in some instances it is treacherous. Wind was high on the river today but no difficulty is being experienced by local packets.

Scarcity of roustabouts at the present time leads steamboat captains to believe that it will be a hard problem to retain enough road men this summer. When warm weather comes roustabouts scatter about. They are as well satisfied one place as another and this is sleeping and eating. Besides it is warm and they don't have to worry about what kind of clothes they wear. It is different in winter, however, as they are compelled to work for a living, but most of them get ahead of nature and flock south where the days remain balmy throughout the cold spell in the northern states.

Mr. Waggoner criticised the bill. Numerous other speeches were made and amendments offered. Mr. Herdington then moved to lay the whole thing on the table. The motion lost—59 to 16. Mr. Shanks supported the bill. At present the fine for such failure to blow a whistle is limited to $100, and the time in which prosecution may be instituted to one year.

Mr. Meyers spoke in favor of the bill. He said it was a blow to that class of attorneys who seek to get damage actions against railroads and then compromise them. An amendment fixing the fine from $100 to $200, the time for filing prosecutions without limit, and requiring the sounding of whistles outside the incorporated towns and the ringing of bells was voted down. Mr. Blair made the point that an amendment of Mr. Williams was out of order. The chair ruled the point not well taken. The amendment was defeated.

The bill, as amended in the senate, fixing the fine at from $10 to $50, and the limit in which prosecutions may be instituted at six months, passed, 70 to 14.

In the Senate.

House bill 342, appropriating $11,500 for a water and heating system at the Confederate Home, was called by the rules committee. It passed 29 to 2.

Emblem Bill.

House bill 297 was next in order. It prohibits persons seeking to go on the ballot by petition from adopting the device of a political party that has the right to nominate candidates in convention or primary. It passed 29 to 0.

Retail Grocers' Bill Passed. Senator Combs next called up house bill 219, the Retail Grocers' association bill. Senator Hogg made a speech against the bill, and Senator B. M. Arnett made a speech for the bill. His remarks were logical and maintained that it would establish the credit of the laboring man. Senator Gus Brown held that the law is unconstitutional. Senator Graham made a strong speech for the bill; he said that he had no purpose to injure the laboring man. Senator L. W. Arnett also spoke for the bill, which passed 18 to 11.

House bill No. 331, increasing the fee of jailers to 75 cents, was called up. Senator Graham insisted that since whisky had been voted out of the dry counties that the jailers were almost starving to death and were not doing any business at all. Senator Burnham had voted against the bill, but said that as he was the only one to vote against it, he would change his vote. He added, however, that the Normal school students were boarded at $2.50 a week. The bill passed 31 to 0.

Extension to El Paso.

Austin, Tex., March 15.—The state railroad commission is advised by the Quana, Acme and Pacific railroad that financial arrangements have been made for the extension of that line southwest from Paducah to El Paso, a distance of about 375 miles. Sam Lazarus of St. Louis, who was associated with B. F. Yoakum in the construction of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railroad, is at the head of the new road. It is stated that the money for building the line is to be furnished by one of the large trust companies of St. Louis. It is already finished and in operation from Quana to Paducah, about fifty miles, and application will be made to the railroad commission for authority to issue bonds to the amount of $30,000 per mile upon the completed track.

The route from Paducah to the Texas-New Mexico line has been surveyed. It runs through a part of western Texas that is settling up rapidly with farmers. It connects with the Frisco and the Fort Worth and Denver City and Quana. About 175 miles of the road yet to be built will be in Texas, and the remaining 200 miles will be in New Mexico. It will afford a short outlet for a big scope of territory in Oklahoma to El Paso and the remote southwest. It was originally planned to build the line via Roswell, N. M., but in order to make it as short as possible it will be run within about fifty miles of that place, crossing the Santa Fe probably at Artesia in the Pecos valley.

"I have a little volume here," began the agent.

"Get out and shut the door, darn you!" shouted the victim. "I haven't got no use for no such trash!"

"Yes you have," countered the caller. "This is a treatise on 'Good Manners and Good Grammar.'"—Cleveland Leader.

Flower-Laden Hats the SPRING MANDATE of the MILLINERS

(By Rene Mansfield.)

It took one rose to make the winter hat. It will take more than a dozen to make the smart spring and summer confection. A fashion that permitted a woman to close her eyes, drop a single blossom or bow or rosette on some corner of a rakish shape, stab the crown with a hat pin and sail forth correctly bonneted would be necessary short-lived. "Off with their unadorned headgear!" roared the powers that be. Sotto voce: "It's bad for the trade." So all signs seem to indicate that we will stagger under carloads of blossoms before the end of summer. The advance styles show moderation in their use, as well as in the new shapes, however, and though one model had pink roses standing up right over the whole top of the crown, surrounded by a heavy hedge of white lilacs—all of which suggested watering cans and pruning shears—the most conservative woman should be able to find something to her liking.

New color schemes rather than new shapes are the novelties of the season. The Russian turban that has been so popular during the winter will take a new lease of life, at least for the early spring, appearing in straw, maline, and sometimes in silk, such as pongee, to match the costume. These are trimmed with flowers, sometimes in bunches at the side, sometimes having garlands of tiny roses festooned about them, sometimes having the whole top of the crown made solid of flowers. One striking turban of black net had a crown of this sort on which pink roses were used, the color being softened by a loose veiling of net caught in here and there with a tam o' shanter effect.

The maline turbans may have a cluster of flowers nestling in their perishable folds, or may be given a jaunty dash by shirred and wired maline simulating wings. A delectable color harmony was achieved by a bunch of ragged silk roses in a pastel pink, crushed among the folds of a pinkish lavender maline turban.

Flower-Laden Hats the SPRING MANDATE of the MILLINERS

(By Rene Mansfield.)

It took one rose to make the winter hat. It will take more than a dozen to make the smart spring and summer confection. A fashion that permitted a woman to close her eyes, drop a single blossom or bow or rosette on some corner of a rakish shape, stab the crown with a hat pin and sail forth correctly bonneted would be necessary short-lived. "OR with their unadorned headgear!" roared the powers that be. Sotto voce: "It's bad for the trade." So all signs seem to indicate that we will stagger under carloads of blossoms before the end of summer. The advance styles show moderation in their use, as well as in the new shapes, however, and though one model had pink roses standing up

side, is perhaps the most popular shape for spring, because of its particular adaptability for flower trimming, and the large sailor is much in evidence. Scarcely a hat of this character is seen without a facing of satin, velvet or taffeta. A novel feature is the covering of the top of the brim with satin or velvet, the under part remaining of the uncovered straw. When the brim is faced underneath often the crown is smoothly covered with the same material. Black meline and black net are much used in the dress hats in the cavalier styles, bound with velvet, satin or cloth of gold. A bunch of roses and violets formed the trimming of a moderate sailor shape which had the appearance of being made entirely from gold braid about an inch wide, stitched flat together.

Leghorns, rolled up sharply at the side, or turned up sharply at the back, are for approval with the variation of the tricorne which are used for both dress and tailored hats. Hair and hemp shapes, chip and Milans are greatly in demand. For the street hats large bows of straw or ribbon or velvet, made into the stiff pump bow, give a perkiness to the sometimes clumsy looking turbans. The long popular mushroom brim, under which a woman might look like a demure mouse, or an inquisitive squirrel, is seen no more. It has been given a twist here and a flare there till it has quite lost its drooping reticence. But its offspring the poke bonnet is here, with huge bows at the back and gay roses to the front that belie its modest character. One of these delightful creations is of pink satin covered with cream lace. A pink aigrette at the left and a bow of brown velvet at the back formed the trimming. Sometimes demi-plumes are used in the back in place of the bow. But a note of warning should be sound-

TEMPTING TABLE WARE

The pendulum has swung from the extreme elaboration of table appointments which was considered as fast but a little while ago, to the utmost simplicity in linen, silver and china. The Miltons, the Haviland and the Royal Worcester makes of china are showing almost exclusively a decoration consisting of narrow bands which may be of gold or of some rich color, just touched or edged with gold. The Italian wares show a greater variety of color, and if one wishes rich color designs, in browns or greens, the Cantagalli ware of Florence will be found most attractive. An afternoon tea set for two in the Royal Worcester, consisting of the tray, two teacups and saucers, sugar bowl and creamer, illustrates the survival and increasing popularity of the plain white in china with the gold band and gold ring, that has been produced for the last seventy-five years. The set was of white, lined with a soft yellow, and edged with a narrow gold band. Brass tea services are gaining in favor. These are finished with lacquer so that they will not tarnish and are now to be obtained in many graceful shapes. The copper tea sets are also in demand. These consist of the tray, tea pot, bowl and pitcher in a curious conical shape, with repousse decoration and ebony handles. Coffee sets in German china, which always include a large porcelain tray, seem to be quite the fad just now. Separate copper trays, twelve inches by sixteen, costing about $4, come in either oval or square shapes. Mahogany is greatly used for these trays, also, and more inexpensive ones are of green oak with wicker handles.

ed long and loud. These fascinating chapeaux are anything but fascinating above and around a face that has lost the round curves and the fresh color of youth. Matrons and spinsters, beware!

The introduction of a touch of brilliant scarlet on many of the new hats amounts almost to a craze.

the side of wide-brimmed hats, falling over the up-turned brim and resting on the hair. Cherries are the only fruit seen on the hats as yet, but these are used in striking ways. One leghorn, of sailor shape, had a fold of scarlet velvet around the crown. A huge bunch of cherries was fastened to the left side of the crown, and through a slit in the brim a portion of it was allowed to hang or rather dangle over the ear.

A Spanish turban, faced with black velvet, was most effectively trimmed with three black pompons from the center of which spring a scarlet aigrette. Another turban of Tuscan straw was simply decorated with a rosette of changeable taffeta. These changeable effects it is expected will be much used, especially in the malines. Turbans made entirely of flowers are again being worn. Lace flowers which are made of brussels lace or fine meline formed into uetals have the regular flower centers and are used in the semblance of the cabbage rose, chrysanthemum or dahlia on many of the smaller hats. The leaves are sometimes traced with gold or silver veining to give the touch of metal so desirable.

The dress hats are developed in a wide variety of net and lace. Willow plumes and aigrettes are used almost exclusively in the trimming and the Gainsborough styles prevail. One stunning model is of Milan straw, with the upper brim covered with black velvet. It is caught up sharply on the side with a white heron aigrette and pink coral bead cabochon. Another charming hat that made one think of garden parties and Dolly Varden, was a white silk hat in a drooping shape, covered entirely with black Chantilly lace. At one side of the crown the lace had been fashioned into a feathery bow, while at the other tiny pink moss were smuggled into the folds of the lace that encircled the crown.

The Tangle Proof.

A western Pennsylvania tax collector, though afflicted with stuttering, is an old gentleman of uniformly good temper which apparently no combination of circumstances can ruffle. One morning he was asked into the "settin' room" by the lady answering his knock, and was immediately beset by a barking dog.

"Don't mind Tip," said the lady, "he's only fooling—he won't bite you."

"He w-w-won't, w-w-won't he?" said the old gentleman, triumphantly. "H-h-h-e's b-b-b-bittin' me n-now!"—Success.

Apples are greater luxuries in New York than oranges. While single oranges of the finest variety can be bought for 5 cents, the best apples are sold for 12 cents each.

"I want a license to marry the best girl in the world," said the young man. "Sure," commented the clerk, "that makes 1,300 licenses for that girl this season."—Puck.

Knights of the Bath.

His ignorance of history recently shocked one of the woman friends of a young Buffalo society man. It was after a dinner party at his house and she was telling him what she had learned in her private history class. One thing led to another and all the time he was getting into deeper water. At last she surprised him by inquiring: "Now, tell me, Mr. —, what are the Knights of the Bath?"

He stammered for a while and finally blurted out: "Why, Saturday nights, I suppose."—Exchange.

Not Caught Up.

A man who was traveling the Ozark mountains on horseback stopped before a typical Arkansas farm house to inquire the way. "What's the news?" asked the mountaineer, as he leaned his lank frame against the fence and pulled his long beard thoughtfully. On finding that what had become a part of history was news to him, the traveler asked why he did not take some weekly or monthly periodical, that he might keep in touch with the world at large. "Well," said the old native, "when my pa died, nine years ago, he left me a stack of newspapers that high"—indicating a height of about three feet—"and I ain't done readin' of 'em yet."—Brooklyn Life.

MANY NEW WEAVES IN RUGS AND CARPETS

THE Oriental has long been considered the acme of elegance and luxury and durability in a rug for the well-appointed home, with the result that one sees them of every quality in homes where they are not in harmony with the other furnishings. Decorators, when consulted, always advise against an Oriental rug that is not of the first quality and often find that the general weaves are better adapted to the general tone of the house than the Oriental, at any price. They maintain that a fifty or sixty dollar domestic rug is better from every point of view than a hundred dollar Oriental. This fact should be well considered before investing in floor coverings that are expected to be used for several years, at least.

Among the staple lines the Wilton, the Axminster and Brussels have seemed to lead in popular favor for some time. There is an infinite variety of designs in these rugs, which include the Oriental patterns, floral and conventional designs, and two-tone stripe or border effects.

The Smyrna rug for a modest floor covering is unexcelled in durability and attractive colorings and designs. This may be found in floral or Oriental patterns, size 9 x 12 for $28.50. It is a heavy, seamless, tufted rug, and the fact that it is reversible commends it to the thrifty. Ingrain art squares are especially desirable for bedrooms and come in many soft colorings at $9 for a 9 x 12 size.

There are many styles of hand woven rugs on the market which are known variously as colonial, rag or fluff rugs. These had their birth in the rag carpets of our grandmothers, whose striped gayness was woven on primitive looms from scraps of ribbon, calico, old dress goods, etc. The fact that it is very difficult, in weaving these rugs, to obtain proper tension in regard to the thickness of the fabric, which varies greatly, accounts for their continuing to be hand woven. This permits of a variety of patterns and of rugs being woven to order in the colors that may be desired. At first considered appropriate for the bath room only, their popularity has increased until they are much used for bedroom rugs. The Log Cabin style with its cheery colors often gives a quaint touch to the kitchen when used in strips before the sink or stove.

For the summer home there are many inexpensive grass rugs which add comfort and beauty to the veranda, and are often very effective in the living rooms of a bungalow when the rest of the furnishings are of the same character. For $8 one may obtain a 9 x 12 rug of prairie grass, which is durable and pretty. Paper fiber rugs are also well liked for summer home or modest bungalow. These are made from very tough twisted paper and are among the most durable rugs made.

To meet the requirements of the modern home and apartment with its long living room, new sizes in rugs are being put out. In the Axminster rugs one may find a size 10.6 x 12, and another 11.3 x 15. In Tapestry rugs 7.6 by 9 feet, 8.3 x 10.6, and 10.6 x 13.6 are the new sizes.

NOT easily will the women who have adopted the popular turban coiffure give up the comfortable turban frame which not only makes this hair seem luxurious but forms a splendid support for millinery. They will alter its location if they must, but its comfort insures its popularity for some time to come. The word from Paris is that coiffures show a tendency toward an arrangement low down in the neck, which will still permit the use of the turban cap frame, and also the use of an great quantity of switches and curls and braids and puffs as have impoverished many a purse the past season. "Fifty dollars is a modest price to pay for an adjustable coiffure," says a well-known hairdresser. "We are making up a braided row which will cost five hundred, and yesterday supplied a switch of white hair that was worth a thousand dollars."

The turban drape and the turban braided coiffure, variable as to width and height, will be fashionable for some time to come, on account of its general becomingness. To get the best effects in arranging the hair in this manner a turban cap frame is necessary and a switch about thirty inches long. The bee-hive frame is also used—a wire cap with a hole in the center through which the hair is drawn and then laid softly around the frame. With the braid is often used, also, puffs to fill in, on the top of the head, and soft curls that stray out from beneath the braid in the back, or soften the face at the temples.

A quaint and unique coiffure seen on a bride not long ago was made, apparently, with the aid of two long braids, which were coiled into veritable cabochons on each side of the head, just above the ears. The hair was arranged simply in the front, with a bang effect, while the veil was drawn backward between the braided coils.

By Jane Brayton

A style that is particularly becoming to young faces is what is called the Juliet coiff. The hair is waved into a moderate pompadour and brought back to a soft mass of Psyche curls, that are allowed to twist naturally and loosely. When a jeweled Juliet cap is worn with this, a most delightful effect is produced.

The fringe bang is worn by those who desire a chic coiffure at the risk of its being unbecoming. This is a most trying style, but since the bang can now be bought by the yard, it is a style that it is possible to abandon, when one tires of it, which one could not do when the bang grew on one's scalp.

Although the preference is for the coiffure that is wide and round rather than high, what is called the tower coiff is in very good style. The hair is usually parted with this, and a mass of puffs placed on the top of the head. Sometimes a gauze or gold ribbon is brought around the back of the head to tie in a tiny bow that is almost hidden by the puffs.

One of the extreme methods of doing the hair is a combination of bang, curls and a mop-like use of a long switch. The bang is curled in tiny ringlets that form a fringe all around the head. About the head is then wound tightly the long straight switch, and in the back a tumble of curls is planned in carelessly with shell pins.

NEW IDEAS IN NECKWEAR

A SMART touch may be given the tailored suit if a crisp, frilly jabot is worn with the waist beneath it. The newest thing in these little luxuries is the one-sided jabot. This is made very long, extending nearly to the waist line and is formed of a "cascade of frills" attached to but one side of an embroidered band. In plaited lawn, with an edge of valenciennes or baby Irish, these are charming.

The imitation Irish is probably the most popular trimming for the odd stocks, jabots and coat sets, although Chantilly and Venice are much used in combination with embroidered lawns and lilies. The forms the jabot takes are infinite. Some are simple tabs with a buttonhole stitch about the edge and tiny pearl buttons at their points; others are elaborately lace-trimmed, and are pleated into triple ruffles. Coat sets will be more in demand than ever for wear with the jaunty new short coats of the season.

Net collars and jabots are shown lined with colored silk as a foundation, and trimmed with buttons covered with the silk. Touches of gold are used on all the more elaborate stocks and yokes. A style that would be adaptable to almost any sort of moderately dressy blouse is made of ecru net, embroidered in soft colors, with touches of the gold and black. A narrow fringe of the prevailing shade of the embroidery finished the square tabs, and a fold of black satin binds the top of the collar.

The marine bows have sprung into popularity again though at one time their too great favor threatened their extinction. These are being shown in black and white sprinkled with tiny beads in gold and silver and jet, but the plainer styles are favored by the best dressed women.

CHOICE ART WARE SELECTIONS

THE dull gleam of copper, the soft glimmer of brass, the opalescent shimmer of fragile glass, the shine of bronze and the dazzle of marble—these vie with each other to lure the shopper to the polished tables of the art-ware stores.

Here are Italian bronzes, many of them copies of old Pompeian forms of incense burners and jars and reliquaries. Here are Tiffany masterpieces throwing back the lights of Dresden and Delft. In the quaint Dresden ware are tiny flowerpots, with blossoming plants that are made of delicate porcelain, wired so that each leaf and bud has a most natural appearance. In the smaller sizes these may be found for $3, which makes them possible for delightful little dinner favors. The larger pots and plants come as high as $20.

In lamps, which may be considered the necessities in art ware, there is an increasing number of elaborate conceptions, but at the same time there are more attractive styles to be obtained in the less expensive styles than ever before. The oil lamps with a pressed glass stand, in colonial design, and with cretane shades are greatly favored for bedroom lamps, because the cretane used may match the furnishings of the room. When these shades are finished with crystal fringe there is nothing in better taste for the boudoir. Cut glass lamps are used for rooms of formal decoration, but do not give the pleasant glow that lamps with less transparent shades do.

There has been a revival of the once popular piano lamp, which now appears in wrought iron with the simple crash shades of striking conventional designs, and in the more elaborate styles the carved wood, in Italian renaissance, which has been combined with plaster and gilded, is used for the stand, and the frame work of the shades. These shades alone, before they are lined with the shade of silk desired, are priced at $50.

Sometimes shades of champagne colored silk with deep silk fringe to match are preferred with the stands made of this composition, and the soft harmony of tone is indescribable.

For the studio, the great hall, or the room of massive proportions there has lately been designed a sort of taper stand which is probably six feet in height. Back of the candle socket is a huge shield which acts as a reflector, as well as a protection from draught. This is in the form of a butterfly with outspread wings, and the whole medieval stand is in Corean brass.

The interest in garden furniture is running high just now. "Some people love four careful walls and some love out-of-doors." It would seem that never have more people loved this out-of-doors than in this day when landscape gardening has become of fine art. Extensive showing is made of marble and concrete garden furniture. There are marble fountains costing $300, which may be duplicated in concrete for $75. There are picturesque Etruscan chairs and classic marble benches and sun dials. There are jars of Italian terra cotta for the decorative plants, which are sometimes glazed in such a way as to make them seem like Majolica ware. In fact, there is an infinite variety of garden accessories that will transform the most commonplace lawn into a charming Roman plaza.

STYLES FOR MISSES AND CHILDREN REPLICAS OF GROWN-UP FASHIONS

By Rene Mansfield.

MANY times the attempt to adapt prevailing adult styles to youthful wearers results in incongruous and absurd effects. But never have the fashions so favored the needs of the young girl as those of the spring season seem to do. The jaunty Russian blouse designed for a youthful figure; the full skirts lend grace to the lankiest limbs; the round hats are built for curving contours.

An attractive model in a suit for everyday wear, which illustrates the style that will be most generally worn by the young girl this season, was developed in navy blue tussah silk. The skirt was a plaited one, with the plaits stitched down some distance from the waist line, giving a yoke effect. The jacket, in Russian blouse style, was gored to the shoulders, with the side-lapping fastened with military ornaments. The belt, cuffs, bottom of the skirt and lapping edge of the blouse were braided with soutache matching the material. This style will be particularly attractive in the summer fabrics, such as linen, duck, crash or Madras. Shepherd check continues to be well liked. One striking suit of this material made in the fashion just described, but trimmed with black soutache, in a simple design, applied to narrow bands of scarlet broadcloth.

The princess dress will be worn, in silks, and lingerie effects, by the slim girl to whom it has proved so becoming. A pretty style that a brown-eyed school-girl was buying the other day, had four plaits in the skirt on each side, that sprang from the pointed side portions of the waist. The back and front were in panel effect. A square yoke and light-fitting undersleeves were of corn color tucked distance from the waist line, giving a yoke effect. The rich brown of the foulard with its ecru polka dots. The over sleeves extending to just above the elbow were slashed, and laced across with brown velvet ribbon, while a band of velvet outlined the yoke on both sides. A soft tie of the foulard, lined with corn-color satin was brought from each corner of the yoke to tie in a knot and hang to the waist line. The hats for the young girl of fashion are simple but very dashing, the touch of red that is being used so advantageously for grown-ups, being employed extravagantly in splashing bows or jaunty quills and wings. One large sailor shape, of black and white check straw, had a huge scarlet velvet bow perched up on the side of it, bewitchingly. For the small children the butter bowl hat with rosette or flower trimming is in the lead.

For the tiny maids, the pinafore, Empire and Russian styles are much used in all the wash fabrics. There is an increasing demand for hand work on these little garments which is being met by very clever imitations which are obtainable at about half the price of the real hand-done dresses. White will lead in the wash dresses, though gingham, chambray, lawn and lilies in colored and striped or figured effects, will be largely used in the plainer dresses.

For the little girl's party dress are the sheerest white materials, and also organza sprinkled with tiny blossoms, which may be made up in the most picturesque styles with slashes and ruffles and dainty bits of ribbon, till the wee things look like Dresden shepherdesses.

SPRING FASHIONS IN ODD SKIRTS AND BLOUSES

THE complete eclipse with which it is prophesied every season by knowing ones the perennial blouse is threatened seems further removed than ever this season. Instead of falling into disrepute before the onslaught of the one-piece gown the winter season has seen it flash into unseemly prominence again, and never have the shops offered a greater variety of these indispensable separate blouses than the spring showing includes. One may find them in every form and fabric, from the simple morning affairs of pique or lawn, to the lace and embroidered and chiffon-velveted satin ones.

The lingerie styles show a greater amount of hand work than ever before. Many of the tailored effects have detachable collars and cuffs of linen with English embroidery done in white or colors. Blouses made of nylon are especially favored for wear with the plainer street suits. But it is the more elaborate blouses that have undergone the greatest transformation. A blouse unveiled by chiffon or net or lace and without a touch of gold or silver is scarcely to be found in the shops. From the bit of tinsel in the trimming or about the neck has developed the blouse made entirely of gold net veiled with some transparent stuff. For the gold net is sometimes substituted brocade, which is veiled with net or chiffon the color of the costume. One model was of flowered brocade completely covered with row after row of fine valenciennes lace joined with gold thread.

A plain gold foundation blouse may have several chiffon slips that can be slipped over it, thus making it do service for more than one suit. These chiffon-over-blouses will undoubtedly be much worn with the spring suits.

Most attractive waists are being made up from tussah silks which have cashmere printed borders. One model employed a deep gold shade of the tussah silk with a border of Persian design. This border crossed the front and back and sleeves of waist at the bust line, the remainder of the blouse being veiled with black chiffon of so sheer a quality that it did not obscure the fabric beneath. A rolling collar of black silk and small turn back cuffs imparted a youthful air to this chlo blouse. With it, as with many of the new waists being put out, was provided a straight belt of black patent leather with a gold buckle. In passing it may be said that the restoration of the waist line has brought belts of every description into favor again. Suits are being shown with which are supplied two patent leather belts—the coat belt and the usual skirt belt.

A blouse in a delightful shade of green is of a coarse mesh net mounted over chiffon of the same shade, which is all lined with satin in the same color. A peculiar but attractive color scheme was attained by the use of a clever shade of purple for the mouseline yoke, standing collar, lower sleeves and tucked waistcoat. Two oblong revers of black satin, and a soft crushed belt of the satin added a distinctive touch.

Grey shades were used in a simple little blouse for wear with a tailored suit of grey serge. The yoke and sleeves of chiffon, matching the net of the waist, were tucked in fine tucks headed with a silver thread. The net across the bust was embroidered in coarse grey silk, combined with a soft shade of yellow with a silver thread running through it, which gave a very rich effect.

The side closing continues to be a popular feature of the blouse for every day wear. This is sometimes fastened simply with tailored buttons, but more often closes with a frill of silk or net. A model in marine blue ribbed silk which fastened to one side had a frill of plaited net in the same shade upon the edge of which was stitched a bias fold about a half an inch wide of plaid taffeta. A fold of the plaid silk completed the standing collar and formed also a wide crush girdle. The yoke of this blouse was laid in deep horizontal tucks, from shoulder to shoulder, while two bias straps extended from the belt up over the shoulders and into the belt at the back.

Bands of broadcloth elaborately braided with black soutache formed the striking trimming of a dark blue chiffon cloth blouse. The small round yoke and standing collar were of allover lace finished at the edge with a cording of black silk, and in the front with a straight black velvet bow. The bands were put on over the shoulder seams and extended the length of the short cap over the top of the sleeves. There was also a band down the front of the braided broadcloth, with squares of this trimming over the bust.

Hand embroidery, or some of the clever imitations thereof, and Irish and Val. laces dominate the lingerie models. As yet the bishop sleeve is seen on most of the waists, but there is little doubt that the short sleeve is on its way to us again, to the delight of the plump and the dejection of the scrawny.

A favorite style in the tailored waists has four box plaits on each side with the central one twice the width of the side plaits. Many of these have also stitched straps over the shoulder seams, in epaulet fashion. The sleeves are plaited the entire length from the shoulder down to the three-inch stiffened cuff.

The separate skirts are to be found in every variety of the tunic or overskirt style as well as in the plainer pleated models. Plain material predominates, but well as shepherd checks are shown in attractive models. A decided novelty, introducing a striking black and white stripe effect has the panels of black serge overlapping the tops of box plaits of the diagonally striped material set on just below the knee. The effect produced is of a slashed overskirt.

The new skirts all show a return to the normal waist line which is indeed the marked tendency of all gowns and suits. Trimming consists usually of cloth-covered buttons on the plainly tailored skirts, while with the tunic effects no trimming at all is used.

Spring Suits and Gowns Show Many New Features

(By Rene Mansfield.)

Mme. La Mode is no respecter of history, chronology, nor seasons. In less than a twelve-month she has stepped airily out of King Dagobert's togger into the cuirass of the middle ages and thence into the courtly costumes of Louis the Fifteenth's time. Now her capricious head has been turned by military regalia and though the summer months are approaching she is donning the modified uniform of the Russian Cossack, with complete indifference to the fact that it is obviously a winter effect. So the puzzled purveyors to her ladyship's whims have had to skirmish exceedingly to adapt the style to spring and summer usage. The result is an infinite variety of bloused and belted garments, but all showing the unmistakable Russian influence, even to the trimmings of broderie russe and the buckles and clasps bearing the Russian eagle's head.

Conservative buyers in this country, however, sound a warning note in the declaration that the Russian models will undoubtedly be favored in the dressier suits and three-piece costumes, but that the screen-eighths fitting tailored suits, twenty-six to thirty-two inches in length, will easily hold their own. These will be made with long roll and notched collars and the left side lap, approaching almost to a blazer style when the roll collar is emphasized. A novelty in these tailored garments is the introduction of lingerie effects. Pleated German valencinnes edging the collar and cuffs adds that touch of lace daintiness that feminizes the most strictly tailored suit.

The developments of the Russian blouse effect range from the simplicity of the blouse coat brought into the waist line with a patent leather belt, to the satin coats that are shirred or pleated into belts of gold braid or silk embroidery. It is whispered in the inner circles of the Parisian modistes that before the end of summer the regretfully-relinquished Eton and bolero will come into distinct favor again. We had had the long coats for several successive seasons now and the pendulum may naturally enough swing from their length to the abbreviation of the Eton and bolero. The home dress-maker will rejoice at this change, for the simple style of the short coats does not present the difficulties in making—nor the expenditure—that the longer garments do.

But there seems to be a law of compensation in fashion as in other things. When two yards is subtracted from the coat four yards is added to the skirt. A bas the skimpy, clingy skirt of yesterday. Pleats are back again in every delightful style of frou-frou. The novelty in the season's skirts is, of course, the tunic or half-draped effect over a pleated flounce. The apron tunic is shown in many of the ready-made models, but since there are no hip seams whatever to allow alterations, it is necessary to obtain a perfect fit in the beginning, which is not always an easy matter. The side pleated skirt, which proved so becoming to most figures, has returned to favor as has also every variation thereof—the plain panel alternating with a pleated one, side pleats alternating with box pleats, shaped gores confining pleats below the hip line.

Serge is undoubtedly the most popular fabric for the street suits, the marine blue that was so much worn during the winter continuing in favor. So it be serge, one can make no mistake in the selection of material for the spring suit, since every weave from the fine twill serge to the tancy and rough weaves will be used. Novelty chevrons, particularly in the black and white, or pepper-and-salt effects, two-toned diagonal, basket cloths and mat weaves, will be used in the more expensive suits. The tendency is toward the soft, rough cloths, including homespun and worsteds. The pin-stripe serge it is expected will be much worn, especially those with the hair-line stripe of black, from one-half to three-quarters of an inch apart, on a white ground, or the white line on a navy blue ground.

Although the three-piece suit in the more elaborate styles will persist, the silk suit, consisting only of skirt and coat, bids fair to push to the front again as the smart apparel for semi-dressy occasions. Tussah and pongee silk are used almost exclusively in these suits, though ribbed and corded effects are also good. Foulards, which grew and grew to such extravagance in sprawl and color that they lost favor with the discriminating woman, are insinuating themselves into her good graces again by their soft colorings and modest designs. The smaller the pattern the smarter the foulard is considered to be. Another revival of once popular silk is that of the changeable or chameleon silk, which is to be found in the taffetas and satins. Many of the new suits and coats are lined with this changeable silk, in a contrasting shade.

Though the suit coats have all been shortened up into Russian blouse and even Eton lengths the separate coat for spring continues to be full length, though often developed in the Russian effects. The straight cut garments on closely fitting lines are easily in the lead. Silk coats, of black taffeta, or the natural shades of pongee and tussah, will be much worn. One model in tussah illustrates a new feature in the combination of a blouse front with a belted effect, without a belt, however. The fullness of the blouse front is confined in three narrow tucks to which is extended the skirt panel, thus forming a sort of low, broad belt. The very long roll collar is the distinguishing feature of the new coats, together with the left side lapping. Sometimes a single button fastens the coat at the waist line, and more than three are never used.

The color note for spring is a subdued one. Soft, silvery greys, greens with yellow glints in them, natural pongee shades, and all the pastel colorings predominate. In the changeable silks and foulards the tans, grays, rose, violet and green are preferred. The neutral tones of the street costumes are often relieved, however, by a touch of brilliant color at the neck, and the use of contrasting color in some of the new linings makes subtle color harmony possible. A striking pongee coat having a shawl shape collar of orange taffeta, embroidered in the same color, had a lining of coin spotted foulard—having black dots on a burnt orange ground.

Belted Effects Prevail in House and Evening Gowns.

The popularity of the ready-made gown for every day or dress occasions has resulted in a wide selection of these to be found in the shops. They range in price and elaboration from the simple tailored effects in silks or light weight wool materials to the dinner gowns and evening costumes, swathed in chiffons and a-glint with tinsel. The modistes seem to have conspired to aid the woman who thriftily "makes things over." Overskirts, draperies, sashes, the use of several different materials on the same gown, sleeves made from net or chiffon or gold cloth—what possibilities for the refurnishing of the old directoire gown or ruffled evening dress, or worn jumper suit these fashions present!

The materials favored for the simpler dresses are tussah and foulard silks, wool batistes, voiles and cachemire. The Russian influence is strongly shown in the insistence upon a normal waist line, either suggested or encircled with a girdle, or belt of leather, or folds of material, often in a contrasting color. Though it was predicted that the vogue of the tunic would be fleeting many variations of its simple outlines are being shown. The most approved style is cut off at the knees and is either of even, round length, or falls in points below the hips. With a short skirt the effect is not always graceful, so that tunic modes are best employed in the more elaborate costumes.

The trimmings of the plainer dresses consist generally of self-covered cording, or braid in the cord or tubular effects. The preference for the military styles, with the side lapping of coats and costumes has brought out many new ideas in ornaments and yards, and cross stitching is much used on dresses, and coats also. It is predicted that laces will be used to a greater extent than they have been for years. Irish laces will continue popular but the lighter laces, such as the Orientals, Chantillys, Herre and valencinnes will be especially in demand because of their adaptability to draped effects.

Sleeves need no longer be of the same material as the gown. Indeed they may be different for each arm. If one wishes to adopt one of the latest caprices of fashion. Lace, net, gold and silver tissue and chiffon are largely used.

The chiffon-veiled effects, which have been so well liked in evening gowns the past season are now being used in reception gowns and dinner frocks. Black chiffon tunics over blue or green or orange satin foundations are among the more favored styles.
